

Glamping D' Estrellas

Sneak a peek
inside this issue:

- Las Terrenas

LAS TERRENAS (PARAISO EN EL CAMPO) PARADISE IN THE COUNTRY

WRITTEN BY ERIC HUNDLEY

Como Estan Mis Amigos,

Las Terrenas is one of the three municipalities located within the Province of Samana, and one you will visit during your stay with Ecology Springs. Las Terrenas is known for its cultural vibrancy, beautiful beaches, and friendly residents; however, Las Terrenas is becoming a place where many individuals from North America and Canada, are choosing to retire.

In spite of Las Terrenas' growing popularity it still has retained its uniquely funky vibe. Las Terrenas is the sort of place where you can walk up to complete strangers, kick off your shoes and dance to bachata in the sand. Las Terrenas has exquisite beaches with thick white and golden sand, and palm trees which line the expansive bay of clear turquoise waters. In this tropical escape of Las Terrenas, there are plenty of places to find enjoyable activities right on the beach, so you are never far from the cool breeze of the ocean.

Unlike many other destinations, if you have no shirt, no shoes, it's no problem to find a delightful restaurant, where you can enjoy great cuisine, live music, and a beautiful scenery. Las Terrenas is laid back yet sophisticated, and it is perhaps this dichotomy which contributes to its appeal.

There are no huge lofty resorts or hotels to be found in Las Terrenas, simply forest covered mountains traversing down to the water line, where you can find beach huts and brightly colored restaurants. Though Las Terrenas has a strong Latin cultural influence, there are also areas where you can find an American, French, or Italian twist to the local culture.

Given the collective beauty of Las Terrenas, it's no wonder it is growing in popularity amongst foreigners, and middle and upper classes of Dominicans. So get ready to interact with the local community and take in all of Las Terrenas' beauty, during your upcoming study abroad adventure. Paradise awaits you.

If you have any questions about your upcoming stay at Glamping D' Estrellas, please reach out. Talk to you all soon.

